

EVENING STAR:

An evening star formation is a bearish candlestick pattern consisting of three candlesticks. The first is a bullish candlestick (preferably large in size) the second is a small indecision candlestick and the third is a bearish candlestick that closes at least below the middle of the first one. This is a very strong and reliable signal that an uptrend is reversing.