

TWEEZER BOTTOM:

A Tweezer Bottom is a chart pattern consisting of 2 candlesticks. The first one is a bearish, registering a new low (might be a S/T high), however, the next one is a bullish candlestick that after testing the last candlestick's low moves directly higher. For a Tweezer Bottom formation to be valid that 2nd candlestick has to close above the 50% retracement of the first one. This is considered a reversal formation but statistically hasn't proved to be such a strong reversal indicator as theory suggests.
